STOP, DROP AND READ TO SUPPORT LITERACY

The Springfield Library Invites You to Join a Community-Wide Reading Break

On Tuesday, May 26, 2015 from 1-1:15pm, the Springfield Library invites you to join in and Stop, Drop and Read wherever you are and whatever you're doing!

For those who participate, there are two ways you can get a free book!

Readers of all ages who join library staff in the Springfield City Hall Lobby and read up to 15 minutes will be able to choose a free book on site. Those reading in other places who post a picture of themselves participating onto our Facebook page, can pick up their free book the next time they visit the library.

The community-wide reading break is a project to support and bring attention to literacy. People who cannot make it to City Hall are still encouraged to take time out and read in your school, business or household. Silent reading, reading aloud, e-reading – any and all types of reading are encouraged.

What: Stop, Drop and Read! A Community Wide Reading Break

When: Tuesday, May 26, 2015 from 1-1:15pm

Where: Hosted by the Springfield Library in the Springfield City Hall Lobby, 225 5th St. Springfield, OR
