S Franklin Blvd/McVay Hwy Wastewater Trunk Extension Road Closure to Occur

The City of Springfield will be constructing a new wastewater/sewer trunk line along S Franklin Blvd/McVay Hwy south towards the McVay Hwy/I-5 Interchange. Construction is planned to start later this summer and is estimated for August and September 2014. In order for construction to occur safely and efficiently, S Franklin Blvd/McVay Hwy will be closed to through traffic during the construction. Access to local residences and businesses will be allowed, but will need to follow the designated detours. On the back of this flyer is a map that shows the closure and detours.

When will construction take place?

Construction will begin late summer 2014 (est. Aug-Sept) and again in the summer of 2015 (est. Jun-Aug). During active construction businesses will remain open as local traffic will be allowed. However the road will be closed to through traffic.

Will there be a road closure to through traffic?

Yes. However businesses will remain open during construction as local traffic will be allowed. S Franklin Blvd/McVay Hwy from the intersection of Franklin Blvd (U-haul) to the intersection of Franklin Blvd and Nugget Way will be completely closed to through traffic during active construction.

How will this affect me?

You may be required to take detours from your usual routes plus hear and see signs of construction.

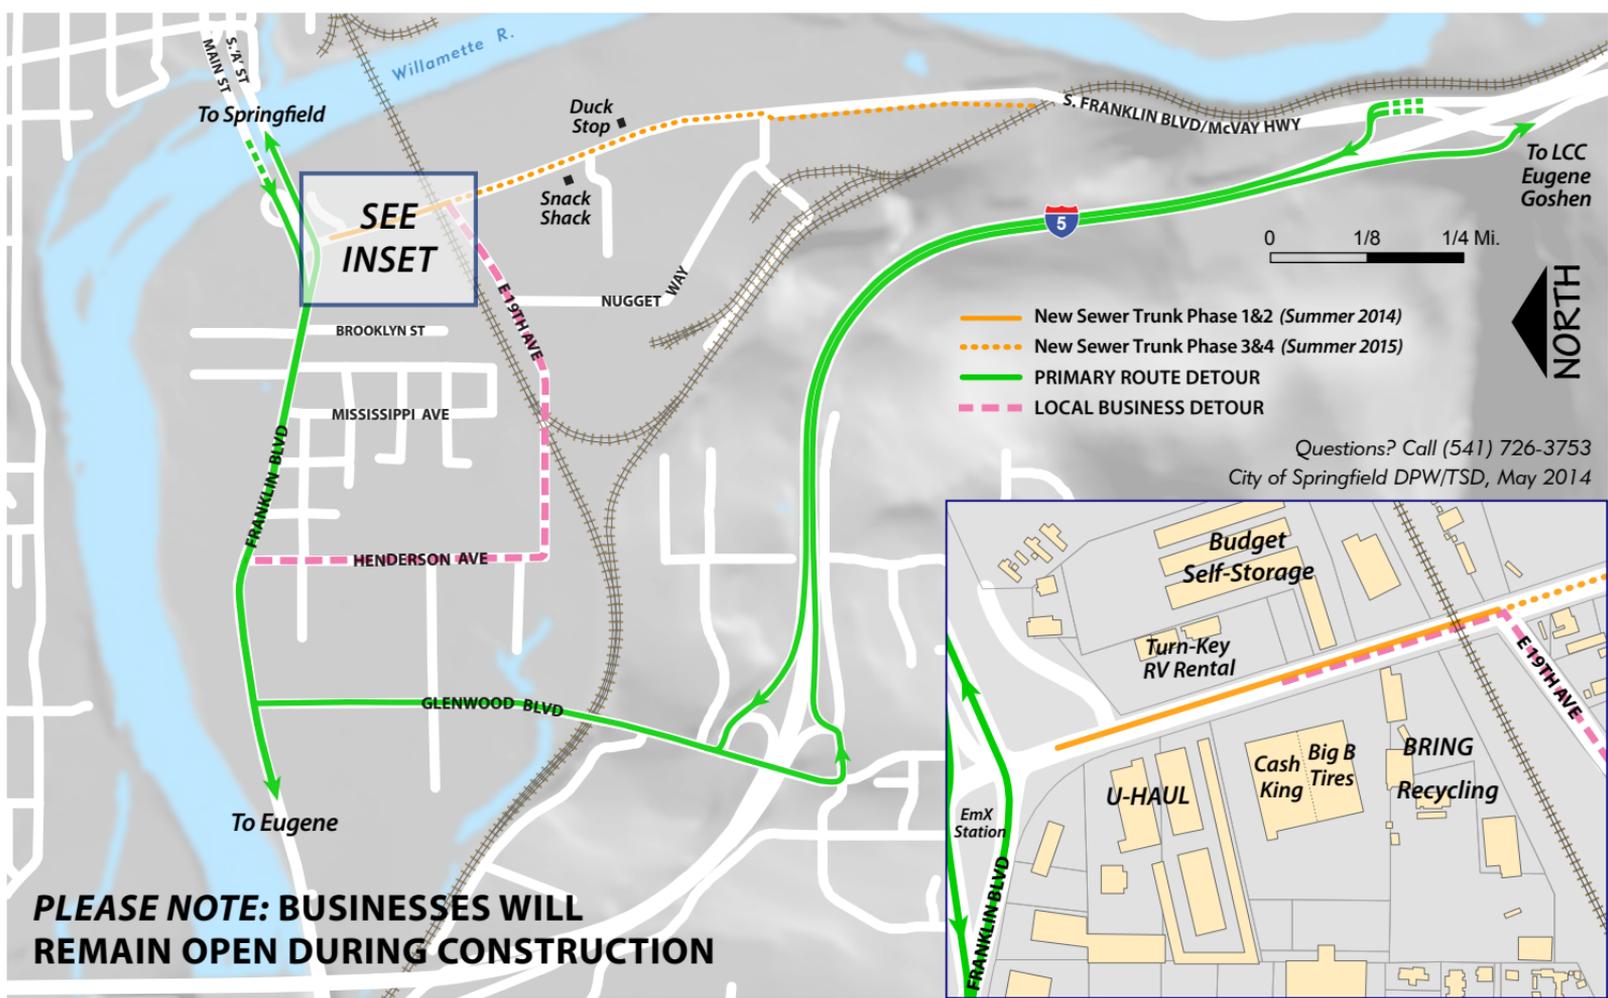

How do I get more information?
