“AND ALL THAT JAZZ”

Springfield Jazz Singers to perform at the Springfield Public Library

The Springfield Jazz Singers, under the direction of Jan Felton, present a performance and brief history of jazz in America.

Starting with slave hollers, and coming up through Stride and Ragtime rhythms, to jazz greats like Gershwin and Ellington, this jazz history will be illuminated by the piano talents of Beau Belansky and through the jazz/swing arrangements sung by the Springfield Jazz Singers.

Ms. Felton started her musical/theatrical studies in Seattle at the Cornish School of Performing Arts, and continued with theater, dance and music from that time on. While in Santa Cruz she founded the musical theater company "Broadway By the Bay", and both there, and here in Springfield, directed jazz choruses.

Admission is free. Takes place in the Library Meeting Room.

What: And All That Jazz, a performance by the Springfield Jazz Singers

When: Saturday, May 30 at 1 pm
