CELTIC HARP AND CELLO CONCERT

Presented by the Springfield Library Foundation Author & Music Series

On Tuesday, March 15, 2011 at 7 p.m. in the Springfield Library Meeting Room, David Helfand, Celtic harpist and multi-instrumentalist, will play with concert violist Justin Lader.

David Helfand composes and performs music on Celtic harp, mandocello, and guitar. His original music has a multi-cultural essence, blending the worlds of Celtic and Middle-Eastern-styled music with a mix of other wondrous cultures. He has performed at many libraries in the Northwest and at the renowned environmental center, the Eden Project, in Cornwall, England. David's newest CD is called "First Light."

David will be accompanied by Justin Lader, a classically-trained violist who teaches viola at the Shedd's Community Music School and has performed with various chamber orchestras and trios in the Northwest.

The Springfield Library Foundation provides funding for this program and admission is free.
