SpringFILM: MOVIE & DISCUSSION SERIES AT THE LIBRARY

Adults are invited to watch Cool Hand Luke and stay for a discussion

On Saturday, January 8, 2011 at 2 pm, the community is invited to a new film series at the Springfield Library called SpringFilm. The first screening will be the film Cool Hand Luke (1967) starring Paul Newman. After watching the film, audience members are invited to stay for a facilitated discussion.

About the film: when the establishment tries to put the clamps on a fiercely independent spirit, the result is explosive. Set deep in the South, the story, adapted from Donn Pearce's novel, centers on a harshly disciplined chain gang and the prisoner, Luke (Paul Newman), who must defy any system that limits his personal freedom. Directed by Stuart Rosenberg.

The film and discussion will be held in the Library Meeting Room; free.
